let this opportunity slip. This addition is located in the upper and north part of the town of Aztec. Is bounded on the south by Bunker's and Sutton's additions. On the east by the D. & R. G. Ry, depot and grounds. On the west by Williams and McCoy additions. On the north by the McCay orehard of 15 acres. Mr. Spath is desirous of closing all his Animas heldings out at once. Get you a building location now where you will always receive the benefit of school facilities only to be found within the confines of a wideawake city. The fact that Aztec has more than doubled in population in two years and is still rapidly growing is proof positive that to purchase a lot in this Addition, located as it is, will be a good investment for anyone. If you desire to purchase a 5 or 20-acre or larger tract in this beautiful valley, let us show you what we have to offer.

Many of these lots in Spath's Addition contain from 8 to 20 bearing fruit trees, Apple, Peach, Pear and Cherry. The prices run from $125 to $200 each. Title perfect.

Despite are often very much disappears of the property of the control of the amples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Address me, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely systems of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatnent is treating the result of your ailent, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves-the inside nerves-means stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside perves." Also for bloating, billiousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free Book. MAP OF SAN JUAN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO.

YING to the south of the high La Plata mountains of Southwestern Colorado, among the valleys of the San Juan, Las Animas and I a Plata rivers, is San Juan county, New Mexico with mesa and valley lands snugly fitting among low, cedar-covered hills peculiar to this locality. The soil is light sandy loam, and a heavier adobe, rich in plant food, and the hills and mesas are covered with a wild growth of redar, sage brush and grass. The population is almost entirely American, with schools, churches, etc.

The elevation at Aztec is 5,600 feet, and the climate is mild the year around. In winter the frost never goes deep and tender fruit does not winter-kill. The snowfall is not heavy, as a rule, and seldom lays long. In the springtime rains are usually of short duration and vegetation appears several weeks prior to that of the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains. The watershed of San Juan county drains into the Pacific ocean. In summer the sun is hot and the growing season long, but the nights are cool and the breezes from the snow capped long, but the nights are cool and the breezes from the snow capped peaks, 50 miles to the north, are refreshing even on the hottest days. In the fall, the harvest of golden grain, fruit and vegetables is abundant and sure. Fruit raising is the leading industry. Apples, pears, peaches, prunes, plums, apricots, grapes, cherries, nectarines, small fruits and berries, alfalfa, corn, wheat, barley, oats and all kinds of vegetables produce the finest of their kind. These products are all watered by the rivers above mentioned and the water supply is abundant the entire year and never failing.

With the class of the December 1 in County and standard

With the advent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad standard gauge branch from Durango into this country, has come an opening for many products which could not stand the wagon transportation. At Durango and Silverton, Colo., are found markets for much that is produced here, but this county has never been able to supply the demand for poultry, eggs, butter, strawberries, blackberries, grapes, etc. from these cities. Our apples are in great demand on account of the extraordinary kee ing qualities, fine flavor and excellent coloring. Dallas, Texas, Chicago and other cities send buyers eoch fall into this county to get all the apples possible Thorough spraying for the codling moth has made our apples wormless and perfect.

In all there are not to exceed 20,000 acres of land under actual cultivation in the three valleys, and this land is being cut from large stock and grain ranches into small fruit tracts. New irrigation canals, the Eden, on the Animas river, and the Citizens, on the San Juan, will reclaim respectively 20,000 and 5,000 acres of fine fruit and agricultural land. Under the Eden canal may yet be located free government land, under both homestead and desert acts. Agriculture by irrigation is ideal husbandry. There can be no crop failure. While the greater portion of tillable lands of this country are still unwatered, it is in no sense a new country. Twenty years ago many large orchards were set out and some of them are still bearing and yielding handsome profits to their owners.

San Juan county coal fields have attracted the attention of great railroad systems, and will in future do more towards contributing to the great wealth and prosperity of the county than any other one resource. These coal fields may be traced on the accompanying map from Jewett and Fruitland up the La Plata river into the state of Colorado. No other section of country in the United States of the size of this county has more coal within its limits. These are the nearest coal fields to Old Mexico and the nearest and most convenient to cific, the Phelps-Dodg company, the Rock Island, the Santa Fe Central and the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific all have their eyes riveted upon this immense body of coal, so essential to the commerce of the Great Southwest. The Southern Pacific company only recently purchased several thousand acres of these coal lands at a reported cost of $1,400,000, and under the name of the Arizona & Colorado is now building toward us from Clifton, Ariz. where they have large smelting

All the essentials necessary to make a wealthy community are in evidence in San Juan county, New Mexico. The population is about 5,000, with newcomers arriving constantly, and the two principal towns of Aztec and Farmington are thriving. On the broad La Plata valley are the postoffices of La Plata and Pendleton; on the lower San Juan are Kirtland, Jewett and Fruitland, all thrifty and progressive; up the San Juan come Bloomfield, Blanco, Largo, Turley and the settlements of Pine River; up and down the Animas are Riverside, Cedar Hill, Flora Vista. Each of these communities possess advantages and profitable chances for live homeseckers and investors.

After viewing the present state of development around Grand Junction and Montrose, in Colorado, the careful investigator can see in San Juan county. New Mexico, the future equal of these localities. In and around Grand Junction and Delta county. Colorado, fruit lands are priced now at $300 to $400 per acre. In San Juan county lands of equal merit can be bought for $25 to $100 per acre, and will grow in value constantly. No man can make an investment that will give him surer and larger legitimate profit than planting the raw lands in this county to fall and winter fruit-and doing it at once.

A sugar beet factory at Durango, two new irrigation canals, new railroad south, gas and oil drilling at Farmington, are future enter-prises that "look good to us." More canning factories, a creamery or two and a wool scouring plant would pay now, beside many others.
